

Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 20 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:

A largely dry night, but rain moving in Monday.

This Evening and Tonight:

A cloudy but largely dry evening, although some spells of patchy light rain remain possible. Overnight, southernmost areas may see some scattered showers; northern areas will remain dry and likely see some clear spells. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Monday:

After a dry start, outbreaks of showery rain move into the north, sinking southwards through the day. Southeastern areas likely to see some light rain. Cloudy, and breezy along coasts. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:

Dry on Tuesday, with clearer skies and sunny spells. Dry to start Wednesday, but then outbreaks of rain later. Cloudy Thursday with further rain. Cool mornings but becoming warmer throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.